Welcome .. to your community new look Lincolnshire Advertiser

Being very aware of how difficult things are financially for business at this current time, our aim is to keep the cost of advertising with us as competitive as possible.

FEBRUARY 14TH VALENTINE'S DAY

In Great Britain, Valentine's Day began to be popularly celebrated around the seventeenth century. By the middle of the eighteenth century, it was common for friends and lovers in all social classes to exchange small tokens of affection or handwritten notes. Then by the end of the century, printed cards began to replace written letters due to improvements in printing technology. Ready-made cards were an easy way for people to express their emotions in a time when direct expression of one's feelings was discouraged. Cheaper postage rates also contributed to an increase in the popularity of sending Valentine's Day greetings.

The first commercial Valentine's Day greeting cards produced in the U.S. were created in the 1840s by Esther A. Howland. Howland, known as the Mother of the Valentine, began to sell the first mass-produced valentines. She made elaborate creations with real lace, ribbons and colorful pictures known as "scrap."

Approximately 85 percent of all valentines are purchased by women. An estimated one billion valentine cards are sent each year, making Valentine's Day the second largest card-sending holiday of the year.

Special Air Service - SAS

Inspirational Lincolnshire Man

“Gentleman Jim”

Major John Edward Almonds

Military Medal and Bar. 1914 – 2005

Formed in July 1941 by Capt. David Stirling

"L" Detachment, Special Air Service Brigade

John Edward Almonds was one of the first to be selected for the SAS.

He was born August 6th 1914 at Stixwold Lincolnshire.

In 1932 at the age of eighteen he joined the 2nd Battalion Coldstream Guards, and served at the Tower of London until 1936. He then joined the Bristol Police force.

Upon the outbreak of the second World War he reported back to the Coldstream Guards at Pirbright and became a small arms instructor.

He had no nickname, so if anyone called out 'John', half the barrack room stood up. It was he who volunteer to be known as Jim. This was soon to be changed to 'Gentleman Jim'. Whilst at Pirbright he met with

Pat Riley

Jim Blakeney

Bob Lilly

When the Guards formed their own commando unit they all volunteered, and were sent for training to Burnham-on-Crouch, and from there to Scotland for more training.

No 8 Commando went to Egypt as part of the newly created "Layforce", under the command of Colonel Robert Laycock. It was intended that the group should go to the Middle East, but all that changed when Rommel pushed the Allies back to the Egyptian boarder leaving the coastal town of Tobruk totally surrounded. It was decided to disband "Layforce" after many of their plans had to be aborted.

It was at this time that Sergeant Jim Almonds and the other three linked up with Lieutenant Jock Lewis. Jock Lewis, Almonds and the others carried out night raids, taking prisoners and generally harassing the enemy that surrounded Tobruk.

In 1941 Capt. David Stirling was recruiting for the newly established L Detachment Special Air Service Brigade which would operate as a desert raiding force behind enemy lines, to wreak havoc along Rommel's supply lines, blow up vital installations, and aircraft on the runway.

The first men were handpicked by David Stirling and Jock Lewis

Capt. David Stirling

Jock Lewis

Jim Almonds, Pat Riley, Bob Lilly and Jim Blackney.
This elite group, became known as the "Tobruk Four".

After many heroic missions Jim Almonds returned to England in 1943 and was put in charge of security at Chequers, the Prime Ministers Country Residence.

He soon tired of this, and in 1944 rejoined the SAS Regiment in Scotland.

Only a few months later as Squadron Sergeant Major he was dropped into France in "Operation Gain" his mission to disrupt the railways by blowing up the lines.

Jim received the Croix de Guerre, and was promoted to Major by Field Marshal Montgomery himself on the recommendation of his Commanding Officer.

There is so much more to be said about Major John Edward Almonds.

Read the book written by his daughter Lorna Almonds Windmill.

Gentleman Jim (2001). is available for Amazon, the library, and all good book shops.
